Great Smoky Mountains National Park is the most visited national park in the United States, with nearly 10 million visitors each year. Unfortunately, decades of heavy use have left their mark on the park. But today, by joining the Friends of Great Smoky Mountains National Park, you can help with the maintenance and the restoration of one of America's treasures. Money raised by the Friends organization is put to numerous uses, including the repair and restoration of wayside exhibits, trail rehabilitation, shelter repair and support of the Twin Creeks Resource Center. Friends of Great Smoky Mountains National Park raises funds through membership sales. For more information visit friendsofthesmokies.org.
